Today, autism is not a rare disability. There are many children are born with this disability.

Autism disability in many children is not disability which must be avoided and with no grateful. So, if some parents have children with autism disability, they must be have a great and big love to their children and must be grateful. But parents will be more helped if there are some facility which for them to educate their children.

Currently, we can be seen there are no facilities that accommodate all children who possessed this mental disability. So any treatment of children with autism may not be maximal. Therefore, the presence of Autism School And Therapy Center in expected to accommodate all of activities that should be done by this autistic child. From educational activities until therapy activities. So that children with autism can be easier to become an independent.
